From the Rector

Of Lengthening Days and Renewal

It is happening again...new life stirring up and against the cold that now is beginning to lose its grip. There are signs of life everywhere; the earth awaking from dreamful sleep.

There, narcissus is blooming in a vacant lot; gold finches and robins carried in by the south wind twitter among the cherry laurel; the rust red of silver maples spangle the leaden swamps along the interstate...outward and visible warrant that life will and forever shall find a way...that renewal is the rhythm of existence...so why do we fear what is next? Have we forgotten?

Stanley Hauerwas, noted ethicist at Duke University, among other scholars and theologians, argues that it is our fear of death that motivates our actions in life. Many religious skeptics argue that it is the fear of death that has motivated the religious consciousness in humankind; that we have invented religion to stand between us and our mortality. I beg to disagree. Could it be that it is not death that we fear, but life? Could it be that what daunts us is the possibility, the invitation to live life fully...to live it as God means for us to live it...we can feel it awaken again deep within our souls just now, a renewed invitation, in this the warming juvenescence of the year, as Eliot puts it...he who dubs April the "cruellest month," (had he written The Wasteland in Mobile instead of England it would have been March)... the cruellest month because the world must awake from the cold, forgetful torpor of winter, and life beckons again, calls us to ourselves; nature herself rousing us from sleep to live into the heaven that we call earth.

To live into heaven is to live into our true selves, and that is to be life bearers to the dead of our world....raised life for those laid low. The reason we gather as a community of faith, a community of conscience, is that together there is courage...the courage to be the people of God...the courage to live for the other...so that all may become the signs of Spring...outward and visible warrant of the promise of life and life abundant...that the days do lengthen yet again....as they forever shall in due season...The season is now...It is happening again, remember?... life come round again blooms in mad ecstasy, all mortality aside...just look at it everywhere, the truth of it... and take courage....the courage to live....the courage to be.

The Episcopal Church welcomes you

The Friday Night Supper Club will meet at 7:00pm on March 12 at Melanie Petithory's house, 2765 Brevard Drive. Her phone is: 473-1350. All are welcome!

Re-Entry Transition Imagine, if you will, what it would be like to be released from an incarceration that has left you physically, emotionally and psychologically scarred. You probably have developed a substance abuse habit in the interim. After 3 or 4 years of working in one of the prison industries you've probably earned about $100. They give you a bus ticket home (subtracted from what you earned), point you toward Mobile and tell you to stay out of trouble. Is it any wonder why we have a recidivism rate of nearly 70%?

Danny Moreau, a member of All Saints and a Probation Case Officer in Mobile, will lead a discussion on Sunday, March 21, at 6pm in the Walter K. Smith Room. His goal is to look at the feasibility of assisting inmates in transitioning back into society. He hopes that this possible ministry would not be about saying prayers and handing out bibles. It needs to be more. Danny says, "There are faith-based assistance grants available from the Feds. Let's use them. The problem we're facing is big, but there are enough smart people at All Saints that a solution can be found. Our biggest asset will be thinking outside the box."

Please join us for this very worthwhile discussion.

Garage Sale this Saturday is HUGE!!

The Girls' Choir and the EYC are raising money for their summer trips: the choir to Florence, Italy to sing, and the EYC to help rebuild houses in New Orleans. The garage sale will be held March 13 from 8:00am-12N in Stirling Hall. There is furniture, children's clothes, games, books, household and kitchen items and much, much more just waiting for you to take home! Wednesday, March 10, is the last day to drop off your donated items.

Helpers on Saturday should arrive by 7:30. Buyers should arrive at 8am. Bring your checkbooks and shop, shop, shop!

Claire Lynch Band Concert

We are getting calls from as far away as Panama City and Montgomery about the concert this weekend! (See next page) If you are planning on attending, please call the church office to let us know so we can make sure we will have enough seating. Also, watch for an article in the Mobile Press on Thursday about our concert series!

Time Change this weekend!

Believe it or not, the time will 'spring forward' to Daylight Savings Time at 2am this Sunday, March 14! Set your clocks ahead one hour when you go to bed Saturday night after the Claire Lynch Band concert! (See next page)

Save the Date for IHN Week!

An important date will 'sneak up' on us if we aren't careful: Easter Sunday, April 4, is the beginning of All Saints' week to host Interfaith Hospitality Network/Family Promise families. If you would like to help with this important ministry, call Henry Brewster at 338-0630 or email him at brewster919@bellsouth.net.

EYC News

As most of you know, I will be taking over as the Youth Director for All Saints. The next few months will be busy with service projects, game days, movie nights and just about anything we can come up with. I encourage you all to participate and I look forward to meeting those of you I don't know!

-Catherine Mackey

Eagle Scout Project to begin

Hello to the congregation of All Saints! I'm asking for monetary donations for my Eagle Scout project. I will build wooden partitions to replace the flimsy blue tarps currently being used for the IHN program. The partitions will give the families who stay with us more privacy. The Scouts require that all my funding for the project must be donated. I need the materials before I start construction. I must completely finish the project by my 18th birthday, which is August 24 this year. Also when the time comes to build the walls I will announce workdays and ask for your help. Thanks for anything you can do.

-Forrest Brewster

Forrest can be reached at: brewster919@bellsouth.net, 479-9781, or 2556 S. Delwood Dr., Mobile AL 36606.

"Give away the stone,
Let the oceans take and transmutate,
this cold and fated anchor.

Give away the stone,
Let the water's kiss and transmutate
these leaden grudges into gold."

---Tool

"Let it go...
...this too shall pass."

---Ok Go!

Forgiveness of others is an important part of the Christian faith (hopefully, this comes as no surprise). It's right there in the Lord's Prayer, in the traditional version we ask to forgive the trespasses of others against us, in the contemporary version we ask to forgive the sins of others against us. Regardless of whether we call them "sins" or "trespasses" forgiving others is one of the hardest things for us to learn to do. It seems more natural to hold grudges and it is only reluctantly that we forget when we perceive a wrong against us.

But now it appears that there may even be health benefits to forgiving others. A new Harvard study suggests that forgiving others can reduce stress, result in increased heart health, reduce chronic pain and reduce anxiety. On the other hand, holding a grudge has the opposite effect, causing increased stress and tension and increased anxiety. And still, forgiving others is a difficult skill for everyone. We tend to equate forgiving someone with condoning what they have done (whatever the wrong may have been). In reality, forgiveness is more about letting go of the hold that the wrong has on you. It's about the affect on you, and not on the affect on the other person.
