15th Sunday after Pentecost

From the Rector: Of Our True Nature

Last night we watched a marvelous documentary on the life of Eugene Walter, a native Mobilian, best known for his poems and short stories and his novel The Untidy Pilgrim. He was one of those rare souls whom we encounter along the way who refuses to live life conventionally. He was an artist at heart; one of bursting imagination, a musician, painter, poet, novelist, critic, essayist, a gourmet cook, and raconteur extraordinaire. He ran away from home at an early age, barely finished high school, but his genius was undeniable. In World War Two he enlisted and was sent to the Aleutian Islands as a cryptographer, coding and decoding messages. After the war he moved to Paris and was instrumental in establishing the prestigious Paris Review at which he wrote essays on the works of such luminaries as Isak Dinesen, T.S. Eliot, Dylan Thomas, and others. He learned French and Italian fluently and effortlessly. He later moved to Rome financed by a wealthy heiress and continued his writing. There he struck up an acquaintance with Federico Fellini and assisted him in translating many of his films into English; he even played cameo roles in several Fellini films. He loved to tell tales of the South, of Mobile Bay, tales of characters he knew and admired; he loved to throw lavish parties purely to just celebrate life. He was always out of money, and relied unapologetically on the generosity and kindness of his friends. He finally returned to his beloved Mobile, about which he said did not really belong to North America, but was more akin to a Caribbean paradise. He loved the architecture, the food, the drink, and his friends. He died here in 1998.

Eugene Walter, so much like other such sojourners, characters of genius whom we encounter, are really strangers in a strange land. They live on the margins of convention, perhaps not so much out of choice, but probably because they are compelled to do so. It is an unavoidable calling for them to observe life as it truly might be and report upon it to the ones who can't see it for all the clutter of our tightly held conventions. They are our prophets, whom for many are at best irrelevant or worse, crazed; but we ignore them at our peril. To live into one's genius is to live close to one's true nature. Not all of us have the grand visionary genius that stands out so prominently in the likes of Eugene Walter, but all of us are born with an innate genius that knows the truth when we see it or hear it, knowledge from the source...and it most usually comes to us in surprising ways...not in the ways of convention...but on the wings of prophecy brought to us from the mysterious margins of life, by strange and mysterious couriers....So our role as people of faith and conscience is to "keep awake," pay attention, for truth lies in wait to spring upon us.

I'm sure Eugene Walter had his many faults, a dark side, like all of us, and because of his heightened genius I suspect a more intense dark side... but such is the life of a prophet... His eyes could pierce the mists of modern convention, he could see and name the beauty and truth that lovingly surrounds us...in art, in the life of the imagination, in hospitality....He could see and name beauty and truth that is always present, pervasive. And he chose to give himself to it, heart and soul. In our gospel reading for this Sunday, Jesus insults a Syro-phenician woman, she not a Jew, but a former mortal enemy of the Jews, who has asked him to heal her daughter. He calls her a dog, a racial slur to be sure...and then he gets his dose of truth from this surprising prophet: that God even feeds the dogs...Jesus is called out, and is in essence, converted....That is a Jesus I can relate to....One who sometimes fails to see, but lives in a predisposition to be open to the truth. That is our true nature as humans:...to live open to the truth, and to expect it in surprising ways....and know that it will set us free, and to celebrate with heart and soul such precious freedom....and remember, finally, to make sure we show hospitality to the stranger, the ones from the margins who show up among us, because as the writer of Hebrews tells us...we may just be entertaining angels unawares.

Reminder from the Vestry: You are invited to participate in a significant conversation about All Saints and its future. This Sunday, September 9th between services, we will begin an appreciative dialogue over breakfast to assess where we are and what we would like to be as a church in three to five years.

This is a wonderful opportunity to talk openly with each other and capture our congregation's best experiences so that we can build on these as we plan for the future. Please mark your calendar for breakfast on Sunday, September 9th at 9:00. We will also have time the following Sunday for those that can't make it on the 9th.

The Schedule:

Time: Sunday, September 9th at 9:00 am

Activity: Appreciative dialogue over breakfast

Location: Stirling Hall

Time: Sunday, September 16th at 9:00 am

Activity: Appreciative dialogue for those that could not attend on September 9th

Location: Chapel

Data from these interviews will be presented to us on Sunday, Oct 14 at 9am in Stirling Hall.

From the Treasurer:

While we got off to pretty good start during the first six months of the year, we have begun to slip a little too far behind on our pledge collections over the summer. As of the end of August, we were $12,000 behind on our pledge contributions. Now that everyone is returning from summer vacations, it is also time to remember your pledge and get caught up if you are behind. Look for a statement in the mail or contact Mary Holbrook at the church office, mary@allsaintsmobile.org or 438-2492, if you have any questions.

Let's ensure the health of our parish and its mission by fulfilling our pledges!!

Thanks,

Curt Doyle

The EYC will meet this Sunday, Sept. 9, at 6pm to eat supper and serve as evening hosts for our IHN children as their parents get settled after their arrival at All Saints. The evening ends at 7:30pm.

Our prayers are offered for the families and friends of Becky Boulter and Iris Prosch. Both have been on our prayer list for a long time. Becky died last week and Iris died at the beginning of this week. May their souls and the souls of all the departed rest in peace and rise in glory.

The Sept. Food Share weekend is scheduled for Sept 13-15. Thursday, Sept 13, food is delivered from the Food Bank. If you can help with setup, please come at 8:30am. Packing the food for the families takes place on Friday, Sept 14, at 5:15pm. This usually takes less than 30 minutes to complete. On Saturday, Sept 15, the food will be distributed. Volunteers should come by 7:30am to help bag up any frozen food. Distribution begins by 8am and is finished by 8:30. New volunteers are always welcome! Please mark your calendars and plan to help feed our hungry neighbors.

It's time for the Ministry Fair!

The annual event will be held on Sunday, Sept 16, in the Parish Hall during the breakfast hour (9-10am) and during reception time after the 10:30 service.

Each group and ministry at All Saints is asked to prepare a display of some sort: posters, interactive materials, DVDs, handouts, etc, for the tables that will be out in Stirling Hall. If you are the facilitator of the group, please ask people in your group to help 'man' the booth during breakfast and after 10:30 church.

The Ministry Fair is always a great time to meet new people and get them involved. Sign-up sheets are encouraged; be sure to get enough information that you will be able to follow up afterwards. If you have been thinking of starting a new ministry, this is also a wonderful place to start it. Mark your calendars now!

Editor's note: Since our IHN guests will be staying in Stirling Hall during the week of Sept 9-16, Food Share activities, Breakfast AND the Ministry Fair will take place in the Parish Hall. There will be plenty of room for those activities so please join us!

The Refugee Pantry needs laundry detergent (not HE), toilet paper, paper towels, bathroom cleaning supplies and large garbage bags. Personal care items such as toothbrushes and toothpaste, deodorant for men and women, and bars of soap are also needed. Please leave them on the volunteer desk on Sundays or drop them off at the church office during the week. Thanks so much for your help!

Everyone is invited to come eat at the Atlanta Bread Company on Dauphin Street next Monday, Sept. 10, between 6 and 8pm. The purpose is to raise money for Family Promise / IHN, the only organization in Mobile that provides shelter for homeless families. As you order your food, please tell the cashier that you want to leave a tip for All Saints Church, and I will serve your meal to you. Your tip, which you can pay for at the time of order if you are using a credit card or can hand to me in cash, will all go directly to Family Promise. Bring your kids—they eat free on Mondays! Tell your friends. Tell your neighbors! This is a great way to help homeless families stay together instead of being separated by the system.

On Monday, Sept. 17, Jim Flowers is doing the same thing for Family Promise at Atlanta Bread Company. I have challenged him to see if he can raise as much or more than I raise this year. (Last year I raised over $1000!) Come once, come twice, just come help us out! We'll see who can raise the most. Mark your calendars now: Sept 10 and Sept. 17, between 6 and 8pm. See you there!

At the Ministry Fair on the 16th, there will be a basket at the Refugee Committee booth to receive needed items. A list is in the article on page 2. Dear Women of the Central Gulf Coast,

On behalf of the Episcopal Church Women's Commission, I would like to invite you to join us for The Fall Women's Conference. It will be held at Beckwith Camp and Retreat Center on October 5-7, 2012. Come and experience great fellowship and worship with other women.

Our guest speaker is The Rev. Dr. A. Katherine Grieb. She has taught New Testament at Virginia Theological Seminary since 1994. Her theme is "Opening the Bible, Opening Ourselves; Toward a Deeper Reading of the Scripture." We are excited and blessed to have such an outstanding teacher to lead our retreat.

The ECW Commission is responding to the needs of our younger women by offering a "Women of Vision" retreat. This will be a great opportunity for younger women to come together with their peers for fellowship and spiritual growth. Under the direction of Joanna Taylor, a team of six young women will collectively present the modules for "Women of Vision". Space is limited to twenty-four women and these will be filled on a first come first serve basis.

This year, the Diocesan Altar Guild, under the direction of Cecelia Lacey, will host the President of CM Almy, Stephen Fendler. He will lead a workshop on Sacristy Do's and Don'ts. Dianne Walters will also present a Disaster Communion Kit workshop. The Altar Guild will have a short meeting on Saturday October 6th at 1:00pm. All Altar Guild members (men and women) are welcome to attend the meeting and workshops. Please make sure you register for the meeting and workshops.

The Diocesan Parish Nursing Network Group will meet for lunch on Saturday, October 6th at 12:00 Noon. The cost for lunch is $10.00 and you must register. They will offer two opportunities for the CEUs. Low Vision and Post-traumatic stress disorder workshops will be offered in the afternoon.

An Anglican Prayer Bead workshop will be offered for $10.00 to cover the cost of materials. Jan Craver will offer two Yoga workshops on Saturday afternoon. There is a $5.00 charge per class. One class will be for chair yoga and the other class will require a mat.

There will be many wonderful events taking place during The Fall Women's Conference. Your Commission has worked hard to provide a variety of workshops to accommodate everyone. Please join us for some time away to become spiritually renewed. Don't forget to add any workshop fees to your registration fee. Remember space is limited so register now.

Sincerely,
Rebecca Dyson
ECW Commission President
